The Process

NGAUS Members experience issues during or after serving in the National Guard.

These issues are then taken to one of the National Guard associations located in the 54 states, territories and District of Columbia.

These associations at the state level draft resolutions to solve the issues at hand, providing NGAUS with their recommendation.

Draft resolutions are reviewed and voted on by members at the annual NGAUS General Conference & Exhibition.

Resolutions that pass become the Legislative Agenda for NGAUS, starting the process of advocating for those issues.
